21/22 SCHOOL PERFORMANCE REPORT

highlights

As restrictions from the pandemic began to wind down, the school was able to return to a level of normalcy. Here are just a few of the highlights from the 2021/2022 school year at FRCS.

The P3 Portal was launched making it easier for parents to discover volunteer opportunities, sign up to serve, and report their hours. P3 (also known as the Parent Partnership Program) allows parents to get involved and help keep tuition costs down for all students.

Days we were able to serve hot lunch each week (up from pandemic numbers where service was limited)

We expanded music offerings for upper elementary students including ukelele for 4th graders and a variety of instruments for 5-6th graders (including saxophone, trumpet, clarinet, flute, and more)

$10,672

The record-breaking amount of money raised during missions month to support two worthy causes: Petra School on the Rock in Kenya and the victims of the Marshall Fire in Northern Colorado.

We returned to full rehearsals and performances for both the fall play (You Can't Take It With You) and the spring musical (Guys and Dolls)

financials

Through ongoing biblical stewardship efforts, FRCS again finished its fiscal year exceeding budget projections in many areas. Through our commitment to the guidelines laid out for us as members of the Evangelical Council for Financial Accountability (ECFA), the generosity of our families, and God's incredible provision, we had another great year.

FRCS's cash reserves sit at $2,367,770. These reserves, bolstered by previous donations, have allowed us to weather challenging circumstances created by the global pandemic while still moving forward with important projects such as the creation of a new elementary classroom, remodeling the Elementary Activity Room, and a new technology lab.

FRCS undergoes a full audit annually. Copies of the audit are available for your review by contacting our finance department. Our audit is conducted in October of each year and available for review in the spring. We have a stellar record and follow generally accepted accounting principles.
